Completion of studies- 195 ECTS, including 4 ECTS for internships.

- Recommendations and restrictions on enrollment in courses in subsequent semesters are included in the course regulations.
- Students are required to check that they are correctly enrolled in courses offered in a given semester, based, among other things, on the course regulations concerning the completion of specified prerequisites.
- If a course is not completed, the student must first repeat the course.
- In accordance with the Study Regulations, students may be registered for no more than two semesters beyond the nominal duration of their studies.
- If students fail to obtain a final grade within the prescribed time limit, they must apply to repeat the semester.
- If a student has obtained a final grade, it is possible to postpone the deadline for submitting the thesis by no more than three months.

Qualification for the list of diploma paths takes place during the sixth semester based on a ranking list created based on the declaration of preference for the choice of diploma path and the weighted average of grades for five semesters. Groups in diploma paths are made by the dean's decision, depending on the number of applicants and organisational possibilities.
